DEAN'S MESSAGE

MANY FACTORS SHOULD INFLUENCE YOUR CHOICE TO JOIN A LAW SCHOOL COMMUNITY.

I joined this dynamic Florida State University College of Law family for many reasons that I think will resonate with you—a primary reason being the collegial, welcoming environment. At FSU, you will be part of a collaborative community, where students and professors engage deeply both inside and outside of the classroom. Moreover, our students form life-long bonds as they endeavor to study together, support one another, and celebrate each other's successes.

Most law schools advertise that they provide a rich and rewarding student experience, so how should you discern which schools are truly exceptional? My advice is that you should look at the breadth and depth of alumni connection to the school. Given that money and time are both scarce resources, you will want to know whether alumni disappear after graduation or choose to give back. Florida State alumni have one of the highest giving rates in the country. Because students enjoy their time at FSU and they appreciate the support they receive, they stay connected after graduating. Our 10,000-plus alumni are successful in the worlds of law, business, and government, and they are eager to help students. You will have access to alums who visit campus regularly, teach courses and guest lecture, and mentor students who seek to launch their legal careers in Florida and elsewhere. Florida State boasts an alumni mentoring network of more than 1,000 lawyers around the world.

Another strength of Florida State is our location. Tallahassee, the capital of the third largest U.S. state, is home to 500-plus law firms, state and federal courts, numerous state agencies, the Governor's Office, and the Florida Legislature, and most are within a short walk of the law school campus. You will have many unique opportunities to gain classroom knowledge and work experience in areas of the law that interest you while strengthening your credentials for long-term employment. These experiences translate into opportunities around the globe.

You will also have access to the fabulous professionals in our Career Services and Professional Development Office who are dedicated to helping students find desired jobs. They work with professors, administrators, alumni, and other mentors to help students best position themselves for the legal careers they wish to pursue. Florida State is consistently rated one of the nation's best in terms of job placement, and everyone here will be committed to helping you launch your career.

As we begin the 2022-23 academic year, FSU Law is continuing with some of the innovations that resulted from COVID-19, such as hosting guest speakers from all over the nation for virtual sessions with students. We also are still working on the issues of social justice and racism. At FSU Law, you will find a community that is committed to the prevention of oppression and injustice, as well as the advancement of diversity, inclusion, and equity. Students interested in advocating for social justice and change will find an array of curricular and extra-curricular opportunities at FSU.

Please visit us to learn more about what Florida State can offer you, including our award-winning advocacy teams, certificate programs, extensive externship and clinical offerings, journals, and other student organizations. Talk to our students and our world-renowned professors. I look forward to meeting you and hope you will join our vibrant FSU Law community.

Thank you,
Erin O'Connor
Dean and McKenzie Professor

"FOR ME, ONE OF THE MAIN DRAWS TO FLORIDA STATE WAS THE COMMUNITY."

This is a school that is highly ambitious, yet also extremely collegial. You don't find that mix often, and that makes FSU very special. Everyone here has high aspirations, but we all collaborate to the benefit of others and not just ourselves."

Dean Erin O'Connor is a noted scholar in several areas, including conflict of laws, arbitration, and the law market. She received her J.D. from Georgetown University.

The 2022-2023 class of gubernatorial fellows includes six FSU Law students.

Tallahassee is the
#1 MIDSIZE CITY
and
#3 OVERALL BEST CITY

in the nation for lawyers to pursue careers, according to a 2022 AdvisorSmith study. This translates into an abundance of job opportunities for law students.

The 2022 class of legislative fellows included seven FSU Law students.

CAPITAL LOCATION. WORLD OF OPPORTUNITIES.

Florida State University College of Law is located in the heart of downtown Tallahassee—the capital of the nation's third largest state—across the street from the Florida Supreme Court and one block from the Florida Capitol. FSU Law is also a short walk or drive from all state agencies, The Florida Bar, hundreds of law firms, multiple courts, and hundreds of statewide associations and public interest groups. Few other law schools in the nation can compete in terms of location. The unique legal opportunities that accompany being located in a state capital are invaluable. Experiences that FSU Law students have in Tallahassee and around the globe translate into careers all over the world for our graduates in government, public interest organizations, and law firms, both large and small.

Many students are interested in state government and the political process, and our location allows us to offer highly specialized classes taught by high-level officials in state politics and administrative law. These courses include Executive Power, Separation of Powers, and Florida Legislative Practice: From Bill Drafting to the Governor's Desk. Many of these classes also feature special guests who are engaged in sophisticated legal practice and policy-related work.

According to preLaw magazine, Florida State is the nation's fourth best law school for government careers and 17th best in the nation for public defender/prosecutor jobs. Because a large percentage of FSU Law students aspire to work in government and public interest positions, we devote ourselves to making a wide variety of clinical opportunities in these areas available to students. Our location also allows students to easily work at the Capitol and participate in the Gubernatorial Fellows and Legislative Fellows programs—year after year, FSU Law students comprise a majority of the fellowship seats.

Many of the experiences available exclusively to FSU Law students translate into opportunities to change the world and advocate for legal reform. We know a great number of our students want to pursue careers related to social justice, so we offer courses and clinical opportunities that position them to be agents of change in their legal careers.

“NOT ONLY IS FSU LAW ranked highly among the nation's law schools, but its location in the capital means there are opportunities to practice in almost every area of law. When I toured the college, what stuck out was the number of opportunities to be had by attending school here. Being right down the road from the Capitol, the Florida Supreme Court, the United States federal courthouse, and the circuit courthouse means there are many options to obtain year-round work experience that other schools cannot offer.”

Bradley Fehrenbach ('23) was an undergrad at Florida State University.

Tallahassee offers a wide variety of clerking and internship opportunities in its more than 500 law firms, numerous state and federal courts, and the legislative and executive branches of government.

“THE OFFICE OF STUDENT ADVANCEMENT HAS PROVIDED ME WITH GREAT ADVICE AND COUNTLESS STRESS-RELIEVING EVENTS.

Their staff members are some of the friendliest individuals on campus. They helped me quickly prepare my student bar application at the start of the semester and hosted tons of wellness events to help students relax. I’ve had the opportunity to attend yoga and healthy cooking classes, Painting with a Twist, and have tea and scones as an afternoon pick-me-up thanks to this amazing office.”

} Alexa Castellano ('21) attended the University of Florida for undergrad and is now an associate at Fitzsimmons, Hewitt & Cain in Tampa.

“FACULTY MEMBERS ARE MORE THAN SOME of the most impressive academic minds in the legal field; they are interactive, kind, and helpful. They care about you not only as a student, but also as an individual. They truly want to see you succeed, and that kind of support is rare in most law schools. Also, the Career Services team works tirelessly to ensure that we are employed during the summers and after graduation, and that we have opportunities to learn from guest speakers and prominent legal minds. They are extremely helpful during one-on-one advising appointments and want to see students land their dream jobs.”

Cristen Chandler ('24) was an undergrad at Auburn University.

SPECIALIZED STUDENT SUPPORT

WHEN YOU ENROLL AT FSU LAW, you join a community where the administration places a high priority on providing individualized support to students. In addition to support from alumni and faculty members, students have personalized advising, mentoring, and counseling resources through several offices on campus.

Our Career Services and Professional Development Office meets one-on-one with law students to help them launch their careers. The Career Services team will collaborate with you to create individualized job-search strategies, based on your specific goals and aspirations. Students receive counseling on a wide range of topics, including interviewing, drafting cover letters and resumes, and searching for jobs in desired locations and practice areas. Through advising and professional development initiatives, the Career Services team prepares students to be knowledgeable, confident, and competitive in the legal market.

Our Academic Programs Office was created in 2017 to provide more personalized guidance to students on course selection, and to offer enhanced legal writing and other academic support. The office also is dedicated to helping students and recent graduates as they prepare for bar exams. FSU Law also has a director of bar support and a full-time bar support professor, whose sole focus is helping students prepare for bar exams and who has a strong record of preparing test-takers for success.

The professionals in our Student Advancement Office are always available to assist students. One of the many ways they support students is through our Raising the Bar Professionalism+ Program, which was launched in 2018 to assist students as they begin to form their professional identities. An exciting component of the program is that all third-year students may elect to have a professionalism mentor assigned to them—someone who will help them as they transition from law student to new lawyer. This initiative will provide you with many tools to help you thrive in law practice. The office also hosts a wide variety of wellness events for students.

“FSU LAW’S CAREER SERVICES OFFICE provided me with incredible support throughout my search for a summer associate position, which was translated through resume, cover letter, and interview assistance, specifically for the On-Campus Interview Program. The program ensures that students have the opportunity to interview with numerous firms, right on our campus. It is due to the Career Services team’s devotion to student success that I both obtained and felt confident in beginning my summer associate position at Kelley Kronenberg, a multi-practice law firm with over 10 locations.”

Alejandra Gancedo ('22) attended Florida State University for undergrad and worked at Kelley Kronenberg during the summer after her 2L year.

OUR ALUMNI NETWORK

FLORIDA STATE-EDUCATED LAWYERS CAN BE FOUND IN ALMOST EVERY U.S. STATE AND AROUND THE WORLD.

Our 10,000-plus alumni are extraordinarily supportive of our school and students. One measure of the level of graduate engagement is a law school's alumni giving rate—ours is among the best schools in the nation. Alumni who are financially supportive tend to also provide support in other ways.

Our alumni provide a vital network to help our students find employment. They are generous with their time and donate countless hours to helping students perfect their job search skills and learn about practicing law. Alumni in private firms, the judiciary, government service, and nontraditional legal careers regularly visit campus to talk with students about their specific fields of practice, answer students' questions, and conduct mock interviews. They also host networking meetings with students in their cities. Our alumni provide students clerking and full-time employment opportunities. In addition to visiting campus to interview students, alumni conduct interviews via video conference.

Our engaged and helpful alumni are the principal reason why Florida State law graduates have success in the legal job market. Several of our distinguished alumni are pictured in this section.

BENJAMIN L. CRUMP '95

is founding partner at Ben Crump Law, with offices in Atlanta, Fort Lauderdale, Houston, Los Angeles, New York City, Sacramento, Tallahassee, and Washington, D.C. Because Crump has handled many high-profile cases around the country, he has appeared on numerous national news programs. He often visits with students at the law school and has served on our Board of Visitors. More information about him is available on page 30.

SENATOR MEL R. MARTINEZ ('73)

is a former U.S. Senator from Florida. He currently is chairman of the Southeast and Latin America for JPMorgan Chase & Co. He has visited campus on numerous occasions and has served as president of our Alumni Association.

THE HONORABLE MARY S. SCRIVEN ('87) is a federal judge for the United States District Court for the Middle District of Florida. She has hired several graduates as law clerks.

BEN ODOM ('04)

is vice president of business and legal affairs at NASCAR. He established an externship and has supervised Florida State law students in the program.

JOHN W. FROST, II ('69)

is the founding partner of Frost Law Firm, P.A. He was the first Florida State law graduate to serve as president of The Florida Bar. He was the featured speaker during our 2013 commencement ceremony and the first donor to name a courtroom.

MARKENZY LAPOINTE ('99)

is a partner at Pillsbury in Miami, where he specializes in commercial and federal criminal litigation and high-risk product liability. He is a past president of our Alumni Association.

ALBERTO DOMINGUEZ ('97)

is customer vice president at Kimberly-Clark in Arkansas. He has returned to Tallahassee to meet with Florida State law students and established an externship placement for students.

JUSTICE RICKY POLSTON ('87)

was the 55th chief justice of the Florida Supreme Court. He is still a justice, and he regularly teaches courses at the law school and participates in other law school activities.

LAUREN V. PURDY ('11)

is a shareholder at Gunster in Jacksonville. She visits campus to meet with students, has hosted many networking events in her city for students and alumni, and is president-elect of our alumni board.

THE HONORABLE JESSICA G. COSTELLO ('09) is a county court judge for Florida's Thirteenth Judicial Circuit in Tampa. She is very engaged with the College of Law and serves on our alumni board.

SHANNON DEPUY BREAM ('96)

anchors FOX News Sunday. She is also the chief legal correspondent for the network. Prior to her career in television, she practiced corporate law in Tampa.

BENJAMIN J. GIBSON ('08)

is a partner at Shutts & Bowen in Tallahassee. He is also a member of the First District Court of Appeal Judicial Nominating Commission and served on The Florida Bar Young Lawyers Division Board of Governors. He regularly returns to the College of Law to interact with students.

MELANIE GRIFFIN ('06)

is secretary of the Florida Department of Business and Professional Regulation. She served as president of The Florida Bar Young Lawyers Division for 2013-14 and regularly returns to campus to meet with students. She mentors many Florida State law students and recent graduates and serves on our Board of Visitors.

“SINCE JOINING FSU LAW, I’VE BEEN VERY FORTUNATE TO HAVE MANY INTERACTIONS WITH ALUMNI.

They’ve been my professors, mentors, guest speakers, and trial team coaches. They truly go above and beyond to get to know current law students, and they are always there to lend a helping hand.”

Amanda McCabe (’23) attended the University of Florida for undergraduate studies.

“WE HAVE SUCH A GENEROUS AND EXPANSIVE ALUMNI NETWORK!

I have reached out to alumni who are currently Navy JAGs for advice and guidance on how to achieve my dream job. So many attorneys in Florida and around the U.S. are FSU alumni, so it is always a great talking point in interviews that allows you to connect with a potential employer. I am delighted to say that with the advice and assistance of so many wonderful people, I have achieved my dream and am now an ensign in the Navy JAG Corps.”

Mackie Taranto (’23) was an undergrad at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

10,000+ ALUMNI

Florida State's alumni network is truly superb, evidenced by our outstanding job placement, extensive mentoring, and alumni contribution rates. Hundreds of alumni visit campus each year to meet with our students. Many additional alumni network via video conference.

KAREEM SPRATLING '06

is a partner at Bryant Miller Olive in Tampa, where he focuses in the area of public finance. Spratling serves on the FSU Law alumni board and remains involved in law school activities. Spratling is a founding member of the law school's Black Alumni Network.

MELANIE C. KALMANSON '16

is an associate at Quarles & Brady in Tallahassee, where she practices in the area of commercial litigation. She remains engaged with FSU Law and law students, serving as a coach for the Moot Court Team and an advisory board member of the Raising the Bar Professionalism+ Program.

MARK S. ELLIS '84

is executive director of the International Bar Association. Although he is based in London, he is an active member of our alumni board and a frequent visitor to campus. Ellis regularly teaches FSU Law courses and annually supervises Florida State externs in London.

JOSHUA E. DOYLE '06

is executive director of The Florida Bar, one of the largest bars in the country. He is an emeritus member of the FSU Law alumni board.

NETWORK OF 1,000+ ALUMNI SERVING AS CAREER MENTORS AROUND THE WORLD

“ATTENDING LAW SCHOOL JUST BLOCKS AWAY from all three branches of our state’s government presents us with opportunities not afforded to most law students. I externed at the Florida Supreme Court during the spring 2020 semester, which allowed me to work in the highest court in the state after a morning of class because of FSU Law’s proximity. This balance of classroom and real-world teaching is what makes FSU Law so special and why I’m proud to be a Seminole.”

Chad Revis ('21), who was president of the Student Bar Association as a 3L, worked at the Florida Supreme Court after externing there in 2020. He is now an associate at Holtzman Vogel.

HANDS-ON LEGAL EXPERIENCE

opportunities to apply what they learn in the classroom in the real world. Florida State's clinical programs and location in Tallahassee provide students a plethora of options to gain the legal experience that employers desire. Few other law schools in the nation can compete in terms of location. No other law school in Florida can provide the unique legal opportunities that accompany being located in the state capital.

Our law school is within walking distance of the Capitol building, the Florida Supreme Court, the United States District Court for the Northern District of Florida, many government agencies, and large and small law firms. Students have a wide variety of externships, internships, clerkships, live-client clinics, and co-curricular opportunities from which to choose. Our students are not limited to work opportunities in just Tallahassee, though. Many of our more than 100 externship placements are located outside of Tallahassee, throughout Florida, and beyond. Students often utilize the law school's strong alumni network to obtain work experience and career advice.

Whether students gain experience through part-time employment, clinical programs, or co-curricular organizations, the many opportunities at the law school and in Tallahassee are a tremendous advantage. During the summer, many students also work in major cities throughout Florida and the nation. The College of Law offers online courses so students can still earn academic credit while working anywhere in the world. Students gain the experience that helps them obtain permanent employment upon graduation and, in many cases, minimize the expansion of debt.

EXTERNSHIP OPPORTUNITIES IN FLORIDA AND ELSEWHERE

THE LAW SCHOOL OFFERS ONE of the most extensive clinical externship programs in the United States. Students earn academic credit while working under the supervision of practicing attorneys. Our program, which has been referred to as a model for the nation, places students in more than 100 offices throughout Florida and elsewhere—far more placement options than many law schools. While many are in Tallahassee—so students can take classes and work simultaneously—we also have placements in cities including Washington, D.C., Miami, New York City, Atlanta, and London. We have a special judicial externship program for first-year students, and we also have several opportunities for students to work in the legal departments of large corporations.

Many of our externships involve the practice of law, which requires students to be certified by the Florida Supreme Court. This certification is beneficial during and after law school as far as gaining experience and employment in public service.

“MY EXPERIENCE EXTERNING AT THE INTERNATIONAL BAR ASSOCIATION WAS FANTASTIC.

I had the opportunity to research issues pertaining to contemporary international law and the war in Ukraine. One of the many highlights was working in an office with law students and attorneys from all over the world and learning about their respective legal systems and approaches to international law.”

Jacob Shapiro ('23) externed at the International Bar Association in London during the summer of 2022.

“DURING THE SUMMER OF 2021,

I completed a judicial externship for the Honorable Embry Kidd of the Middle District of Florida. During my externship, I researched procedural and substantive issues related to civil rights, international law, fraud, and statutory violations. I also drafted reports and recommendations, court orders, and legal memoranda. My favorite part of the externship was discussing ongoing trials and cases with law clerks and judges. Overall, I loved my experience at the federal courthouse and am very thankful to my career services advisor, who told me about the judicial externship program and helped me prep for my onboarding interview.”

“WHILE EXTERNING AT THE STATE ATTORNEY’S OFFICE, I was trained by experienced assistant state attorneys who gave me opportunities to represent the state in trials, depositions, and court hearings. I handled a variety of cases in county and circuit court, and I gained invaluable legal and life skills from the challenging workload. The externship was incredibly beneficial to my development as a future lawyer.”

Devin Diaz ('23) externed at the Second Judicial Circuit State Attorney’s Office during the summer of 2022.

The law school’s Advocacy Center is invaluable to students preparing for externships and co-curricular advocacy competitions. The building has five courtrooms—four with jury boxes—of different sizes and configurations. It is one of the nation’s finest facilities for trial and appellate advocacy training.

Students utilize the John W. Frost, II Courtroom to prepare for appellate practice.

DURING THE 2021-22 ACADEMIC YEAR.

“IF BEING IN THE CLASSROOM helped shape the foundation of my legal career, participating in an externship served as an opportunity to build upon that foundation. From drafting motions for my supervising attorney to appearing in front of a judge at multiple hearings, I was able to obtain a practical perspective of what it means to be an attorney.”

David Akintonde ('23), current president of FSU Law's Student Bar Association, externed at Cole, Scott & Kissane in Fort Lauderdale during the summer of 2022.

“EXTERNING AT GREEN STREET POWER PARTNERS (GSSP), a solar development company, was one of the most rewarding experiences. I worked with FSU Law alumni on various transactional corporate matters; most of the work revolved around real estate law, but I also worked on insurance and tax-related matters. Externing at GSSP helped me decide the area of law in which I wanted to practice and whether to work at a law firm or go in house.”

“AS A LEGAL EXTERN TO CONGRESSMAN GREG STEUBE

in the U.S. House of Representatives, I worked on a variety of issues addressed by the Judiciary Committee and Oversight and Reform Committee. Specifically, I conducted extensive legal research on the potential implementation of a citizenship question on the 2020 Census. I researched the purpose and mission of the Census, the constitutional requirement to enumerate the population, the enactment of the Census Act, and the statutory authority of the Secretary of the Department of Commerce. I am grateful to have witnessed the legislative, executive and judicial branches coalesce to determine the legal implications of the citizenship question and address the discrepancies.”

Christina Castillo ('21), who attended Florida International University for undergrad, pictured with Congressman Greg Steube in Washington, D.C. during her externship in the summer of 2019.

The FSU Law Research Center offers a wide variety of research courses and workshops, as well as one-on-one sessions, to prepare students to produce sophisticated, cost-effective legal research. Students also have access to several small-group study rooms that are equipped with the latest technology. The Research Center's Technology for Lawyers course provides students with training and information on technology that is changing the practice of law.

“THE BUSINESS LAW CLINIC was a fantastic experience. Even during a pandemic, when classes and clinics had to be remote, Professor Benham was able to bring in knowledgeable speakers who we could network with. My favorite part of the Business Law Clinic was working with clients and seeing their passion for their new business or start-up/invention. We worked on getting our clients’ businesses registered with the state of Florida, helped guide and answer any business law entity formation questions, and offered general advice to maintain a successful business in Florida.”

Kirsten Nowack ('21), who attended Florida State for undergrad, is working at a Palm Beach-based securities law firm.

THE BUSINESS LAW CLINIC: “IN-HOUSE” TRANSACTIONAL LAWYERING

The clinic is part of the College of Law’s comprehensive program in business law, which includes a curriculum with broad offerings in business law, tax, law and economics, and finance, as well as the Business Law Certificate and business externship programs.

Students in the Business Law Clinic learn transactional skills and earn academic credit by helping advise business and social entrepreneurs within the Florida State University community. The clinic teaches students basic bargaining, drafting, risk-assessment, and legal ethics skills necessary to be an effective and creative transactional lawyer. Students conduct a broad range of legal services and participate in other forms of experiential learning, such as role playing, simulations, and the keeping of transactional journals. Students help with client intake, identifying legal and business issues, and developing bargaining strategies. They also assist in choosing the appropriate type of entity and drafting organizational documents, shareholder contracts, and licensing agreements. The clinic is part of the College of Law’s comprehensive program in business law, which includes a curriculum with broad offerings in business law, tax, law and economics, and finance, as well as the Business Law Certificate and business externship programs. Florida State students are able to combine traditional classroom learning with hands-on, real-world experience.

“BEING INVOLVED IN CLINICS at the Public Interest Law Center was one of the most helpful and rewarding things that I participated in during law school. PILC helped me find my passion for public interest work and human rights work, while teaching me the practical skills necessary to become a better advocate. I am so thankful for my time in the clinics, and I will take those experiences with me throughout my legal career.”

Melody Andrews ('22) participated in PILC's Human Trafficking and Exploitation Law Project and Children's Advocacy Clinic as a student. She is now an assistant public defender at the Second Judicial Circuit Public Defender's Office.

THE PUBLIC INTEREST LAW CENTER

FOUNDED IN 1991, the Public Interest Law Center trains second- and third-year law students in legal advocacy, with an emphasis on mentoring, small group discussions, and role playing. Students are certified by the Florida Supreme Court to practice under the supervision of attorneys. They interview clients, conduct discovery, draft pleadings, and represent clients in a variety of legal forums. Students also advocate before the Florida Legislature and other governmental entities.

Through its live-client clinics and projects—the Children's Advocacy Clinic, Claude Pepper Elder Law Clinic, Farmworker & Immigration Rights Clinic, International Human Rights Advocacy Clinic, Children in Prison Project, Health Care Access Project, Human Trafficking and Exploitation Law Project, and Juvenile Solitary Confinement Project—the Public Interest Law Center provides students with practical skills training and management skills that they will continue to use as practicing attorneys. Students also gain a sense of professional responsibility and invaluable work experience.

Florida State's program is unique among law school clinical programs because of the wide variety of legal services provided. While other law school clinics specialize in one or two types of cases, the Public Interest Law Center handles everything from family law cases to juvenile delinquency cases to immigration advocacy.

The Center's work on children in prison has been cited by the United States Supreme Court and featured by national and international media outlets. The Center also has won numerous awards for its work.

ADVOCACY TEAMS

FSU College of Law students obtain legal writing and advocacy experience through several advocacy teams. The law school's Moot Court Team is ranked the nation's 8th best and the Trial Team is ranked the nation's 15th best. The Moot Court Team was also ranked 1st in the nation for national championships won in 2020-2021. FSU Law students also participate in the Vis Moot Court Team, which competes in an international arbitration competition, and mock trial and moot court competitions through the Black Law Students Association. Students participating in FSU Law's advocacy teams typically travel around the nation and also to Vienna for competitions.

The FSU Law Moot Court Team won a record five national competitions during the 2020-2021 competition season. No other law school in the nation had as many first-place victories, and this was the greatest number of national championships won by FSU in one year. Additionally, the Trial Team won first place in the 2020 Buffalo-Niagara Mock Trial Competition.

1. Corinne Bowden (top row, second from right) and Kaitlin Anouge (top row, far right) won the 2021 National Moot Court Competition in Child Welfare & Adoption Law.
2. (L-R) Erin Tuck and Holly Parker Curry won first place in the 2020 Appellate Lawyers Association National Moot Court Competition.
3. (L-R) Rachel Duffy and Genevieve Lemley won the national championship in the 2021 UCLA School of Law Cybersecurity Moot Court Competition.
4. (L-R) Chad Revis and Brooke Stewart placed first in the 2021 Charleston School of Law National Moot Court Competition.
5. (L-R) Hannah DuShane and Gabriela De Almeida placed first in the 2021 Seigenthaler-Sutherland Cup National First Amendment Moot Court Competition.
6. (L-R) Halley Lewis IV, Sidney Carter, Shaina Ruth, and Christopher Ramirez won the 2020 Buffalo-Niagara Mock Trial Competition.

“I REALLY ENJOY MY WORK IN THE AREA OF INSURANCE REGULATORY LAW. I speak around the world on the topic, so co-teaching a class on insurance regulation makes sense. As part of the class, we bring in guest speakers. It is especially gratifying to be able to introduce my students to leaders in their respective fields.”

Fred Karlinsky ('92), a shareholder at Greenberg Traurig, P.A. and chair of our Board of Visitors, is one of many alumni who serve as adjunct professors for the law school.

“AS A STUDENT, WORKING AT INTERNATIONAL SPEEDWAY CORPORATION

not only taught me how to thrive in a corporate setting, but my work with ISC/NASCAR has also allowed me to network with some of the biggest and brightest contacts in motorsports! FSU’s Business Certificate and corporate externship programs taught me to dive in and learn the ins and outs of the business, while providing me with the tools to flourish. I enjoy what I do every day, and I am grateful to the programs at FSU that helped get me here.”

Kelsey Copeland ('17) clerked at International Speedway Corporation as a student through the FSU Law corporate externship program. She then worked in house at NASCAR and is now senior corporate counsel at the LPGA.

CURRICULUM & PROGRAMS OF INTEREST > BUSINESS AND TAX LAW

WE HAVE AN EXTRAORDINARILY STRONG BUSINESS AND TAX PROGRAM at Florida State University College of Law. We offer our students an extremely sophisticated program to prepare them to enter the worlds of business and finance at the highest possible levels. We offer a full range of doctrinal business courses and additional courses in taxation, law and economics, and game theory for business lawyers. We also offer a Business Law Certificate that allows students to strengthen their degree. Students apply what they learn in the classroom and increase their credentials through numerous business-related externships and our Business Law Clinic.

Programs for J.D. Students

The Business Law Certificate Program allows students planning a career in business law and finance to receive specialized training in a set of core areas: publicly traded corporations, closely held business entities, corporate finance, law and economics, and taxation. The program carries additional requirements beyond those for the J.D. degree and signals to potential employers that a graduate has advanced training in these core areas. Additionally, J.D. students who are accepted to the graduate program at Florida State University's College of Business can pursue a joint graduate pathway in law and business (J.D.-MBA).

LL.M. in Business Law

The LL.M. in Business Law is open to students with a J.D. degree and to foreign lawyers. It is designed to provide advanced business law and finance training to lawyers in areas of growing demand, such as regulatory compliance, in-house counsel, transactional law, complex business litigation, and financial regulation. Students are matched with program faculty members who mentor them and help them tailor their course of study, based on students' interests, educational backgrounds, and professional needs. The program is available online or on campus.

“I FELT CONFIDENT ABOUT THE WAY THE BUSINESS LAW CERTIFICATE PROGRAM STRUCTURED MY COURSE SCHEDULES in my second and third years. The courses offered within the program provided learning opportunities that I was genuinely interested in and that I knew would serve me well in the future. Moreover, effective teachers, like Professors Johnson and Kesten, gave extraordinary personal care to ensure that my classmates and I understood the material.”

Raul Alvarez ('20), who attended Florida International University for undergrad, served as president of FSU Law's Cuban American Bar Association as a 3L and is now an associate at Clark Silvergate in Miami.

“AS A GRADUATE OF FSU LAW, a participant in the business law program, and a current business attorney, I now know that the program shaped the trajectory of my legal career. The business law program provided insight on topics that are a must-know for any law student interested in pursuing business litigation and/or transactional work. I was able to receive hands-on experience through the Business Law Clinic, where I worked directly with clients, drafted and reviewed legal documents, and learned the ins and outs of corporate law and business litigation. Now, as a securities and financial services attorney, I have used this unique foundation to launch my career as a first-year associate. I recommend the program to students looking to pursue a business career or any future attorney who wants an understanding of a necessary function of our society – business and finance.”

Destinee Campbell Small ('22) is an associate at Maynard Cooper & Gale in Birmingham, Alabama.

BEN CRUMP ('95)

FSU Law alumnus Benjamin L. Crump ('95) (pictured at the law school) is one of the nation's top civil rights attorneys and has represented many high-profile clients, including the families of Ahmaud Arbery, George Floyd, and Breonna Taylor. Crump hires FSU Law students and visits campus regularly to engage with students.

CURRICULUM & PROGRAMS OF INTEREST >

CIVIL RIGHTS LAW AND SOCIAL JUSTICE

THE COLLEGE OF LAW'S FACULTY AND STUDENTS ARE AT THE FOREFRONT in advocating for civil rights in our state and nation. Students advance civil rights and social justice through courses, clinical programs, The Florida Law Schools' Consortium for Racial Justice, the Center for the Advancement of Human Rights, and events sponsored by the FSU Institute on Civil Rights, the Public Interest Law Center, and many student organizations. Internationally recognized FSU Law faculty members are experts on the major civil rights issues of our day, such as mass incarceration, human trafficking, solitary confinement, children in prison, voting rights of previously imprisoned persons, immigration rights, disability rights, and the death penalty. FSU Law is a leader in placing students in major civil rights law firms, governmental entities, and non-governmental organizations, and many of the school's graduates are leaders in civil rights and social justice movements.

Public Interest Law Center (PILC)

Students acquire real-world work experience and represent clients through the Public Interest Law Center's clinics and projects. Under the supervision of attorneys, students advocate to empower marginalized communities, including children, human trafficking survivors, persons with disabilities, veterans, immigrants, and farmworkers. The Center strives for justice and equitable outcomes through litigation, law reform advocacy, and community legal education. The Center's work on children in prison has been cited by the United States Supreme Court and featured by national and international media outlets.

HOURS OF PRO BONO LEGAL SERVICE
COMPLETED BY THE CLASS OF 2022

“ONE OF THE REASONS I chose to attend FSU Law was the opportunity to strengthen my skills and become a civil rights and social justice advocate. I was drawn to the opportunity to get involved with PILC. The clinic allowed me to provide family law information to women in prison, create a legal empowerment project, and work on a client’s case. I also value FSU Law’s student organizations for the multitude of guests they bring to campus for us to learn from—they continuously motivate me to be the best advocate I can be.”

↳ Kelly Kaladeen ('22) attended the University of Florida for undergrad.

“THE HUMAN RIGHTS and social justice initiatives I was involved with at FSU Law ultimately led to my decision to pursue an Equal Justice Works Fellowship. These initiatives ranged from working at FSU’s Center for the Advancement of Human Rights, enrolling in three PILC clinics, externing with legal service organizations, working as a T.A. for the International Human Rights course, and leading an immigrant rights-focused organization on campus. The mentors I gained from all of these spaces never encouraged me to pursue anything less than my passions and dreams.”

Daniela Donoso ('20) obtained a prestigious, two-year Equal Justice Works Fellowship for after graduation. She is serving at Legal Services of North Florida, where she is creating a comprehensive immigration advocacy program to serve immigrants who are low income and/or crime victims and establishing immigration protocols, procedures, and resources.

“THE CRIMINAL LAW PROGRAM at Florida State University College of Law is one of the things that drew me to FSU. When I was just an admitted student, I got a phone call from a professor, who discussed the scientific evidence class with me, and I was immediately intrigued because I have never heard of another university offering such a class. In addition to the criminal law faculty members being fantastic, the opportunities provided through externships, such as my externship during the summer before my 3L year at the Innocence Project, made me fall in love with criminal law all over again.”

Madison Johnson ('21) attended Bucknell University for undergrad.

“PARTICIPATING IN THE CRIMINAL LITIGATION SKILLS COURSE has been the highlight of law school. Through the course, I worked at the Second Judicial Circuit Public Defender’s Office. Working in the misdemeanor and juvenile divisions, I litigated and managed my own criminal caseload. I had opportunities to network, practice in front of judges, and aid the local indigent community. I was able to advance my legal skills and make a difference in the world, both in and out of the courtroom.”

Kayla Neal ('23) externed at the Office of the Public Defender during the summer of 2022.

CRIMINAL LAW

FLORIDA STATE'S STRONG CRIMINAL LAW PROGRAM offers a wide range of courses to prepare students for a career in the field. Our faculty members are nationally or internationally recognized scholars with deep expertise in the area. Our students can obtain hands-on experience through our Public Interest Law Center and an extensive array of clinical externship opportunities. Students are placed in externships throughout the state, including with state and local public defender and prosecutor offices, the U.S. Attorney's Office, and the Innocence Project of Florida. Florida State ranks among the nation's top law schools for public defender/prosecutor jobs. Students can also assist in the work of the university's Center for the Advancement of Human Rights, with which the College of Law has a close relationship.

Public Interest Law Center

Our award-winning Public Interest Law Center conducts cutting-edge juvenile justice work on children in prison. A study published by the Center and its director, Paolo Annino, was cited numerous times by the U.S. Supreme Court in a 2010 landmark decision prohibiting the imposition of life without parole on a juvenile offender who did not commit homicide. Students working at the Center also provide children full legal representation in criminal cases.

Professor Wayne Logan, pictured with several law students, is one of the law school's nationally recognized criminal law experts. His work has been cited by the United States Supreme Court, and he has been quoted in The Wall Street Journal and Newsweek.

“FSU LAW’S ENVIRONMENTAL LAW PROGRAM PROVIDED ME THE ABILITY TO ENTER THE WORKFORCE WITH AN ANALYTICAL AND DETAILED APPROACH

to confidently address legal and policy issues. During my time as a student, support from FSU Law allowed me to gain valuable experience through numerous research and professional opportunities, including positions within the state and federal government, private firms and other non-profit organizations. As I have worked in Congress and now coordinating policy and legislative issues at the state level on environmental, energy, and infrastructure issues, I know that FSU Law’s environmental law program was key in developing me to be able to immediately contribute and lead this significant work.”

Travis Voyles ('17), an Environmental Law Certificate recipient, is now acting secretary of natural and historic resources for Virginia Governor Youngkin.

“WITH UNMATCHED ACCESS TO specialized opportunities to work in a variety of settings, FSU Law’s environmental certificate program helps students build the networks and experiences they need to pursue careers in environmental, energy, or land use law. Throughout my involvement in the program, the environmental law faculty quickly evolved into mentors, and other students naturally grew to be friends due to our shared interests. The knowledge I gained and the relationships I established while in the program were crucial in helping me land a job in my field of choice and will continue to benefit my growth far beyond law school.”

Katherine Hupp ('22) earned the Environmental Law Certificate and is an assistant general counsel for St. Johns River Water Management District in Palatka, Florida.

Programs for J.D. Students

Upon graduation, students who successfully complete the Environmental Law Certificate Program receive a certificate along with their J.D. degree. The certificate signals to employers and others that a student has achieved special competency in the fields of environmental, energy, and land use law. Students may select their courses from an extensive menu of curricular and co-curricular offerings, as well as joint graduate pathway programs with other Florida State University departments.

A joint graduate pathway with the School of Urban and Regional Planning (J.D.-M.S.P.) enhances the law school's ability to provide comprehensive preparation for a career in environmental and land use law. The school is nationally respected and offers a wide array of fields of emphasis. The joint graduate pathway provides an excellent foundation in both the law and the policy of land use. The College of Law, along with the Department of Earth, Ocean & Atmospheric Sciences, also offers a joint graduate pathway in Oceanography: Law and Aquatic Environmental Science (J.D.-M.S.). The joint graduate pathway provides a competitive advantage to graduates interested in environmental science, law, and policy.

LL.M. in Environmental Law and Policy

The College of Law's LL.M. in Environmental Law and Policy gives J.D. holders the opportunity to enhance their knowledge of environmental, land use, natural resources, and energy law. Students are matched with program faculty members who mentor them and help design a curriculum that best suits their interests, educational backgrounds, and professional needs.

“THE COLLEGE OF LAW is an international institution. During my tenure at Florida State, I studied at Oxford under the tutelage of their professors, traveled to Vienna (twice) to compete with thousands of law students from around the world in an international arbitration moot, and discussed job opportunities overseas with our alumni abroad. For me, Tallahassee has truly been the gateway to the rest of the world.”

Michael Hoffman ('18), pictured in front of Schönbrunn Palace with Natalia Nincevic ('18) when they were in Vienna for the 2018 Vis International Commercial Arbitration Moot Competition, is an assistant state attorney in the Thirteenth Judicial Circuit.

“WHEN SEARCHING FOR A LAW SCHOOL, the Oxford Program at FSU Law immediately interested me; fast forward to over a year later, and I can confidently say that it has been the best experience! This program has exceeded all expectations. I observed the Royal Courts in London, learned from the world-renowned Oxford faculty, and traveled around Europe with some of my best friends. I am so thankful to FSU Law for providing me with this once-in-a-lifetime opportunity, and I know the Oxford program will benefit me for years to come!”

Programs for J.D. Students

Florida State's Certificate Program in International Law recognizes students for a concentration in the area and carries requirements beyond those for a J.D. A certificate signals to potential employers a graduate's specialization. J.D. students who are accepted to the graduate program at Florida State University's College of Social Sciences can pursue a joint graduate pathway in law and international affairs (J.D.-M.S.).

Degree Program for Foreign Lawyers

Foreign law graduates can pursue an LL.M. in American Law for Foreign Lawyers. The LL.M. allows students to gain in-depth knowledge of United States law. In recent years, Florida State has been pleased to host lawyers from countries including Brazil, Cambodia, Cameroon, China, Cuba, France, Haiti, Iran, Italy, Jamaica, Korea, Moldova, Nicaragua, Nigeria, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, Slovakia, South Korea, Taiwan, Turkey, and Uzbekistan as candidates for our LL.M. in American Law.

LL.M. students receive personal attention and counseling from a faculty advisor to develop a curriculum to fit their specific needs and goals. They are fully integrated into the College of Law community, taking classes alongside J.D. students. This allows LL.M. students to establish professional relationships with other graduate students from around the world, as well the opportunity to work with FSU's outstanding faculty and J.D. students.

Under Florida law, students from Latin American and Caribbean countries qualify for the same relatively low tuition rates that Florida residents pay, provided they get a small scholarship. There are a number of scholarships available specifically for this purpose.

“THE STRENGTH OF THE INTERNATIONAL LAW CERTIFICATE PROGRAM was one of the main reasons why I was drawn to FSU Law. I have been able to tailor my curriculum to my interest in international law through the Oxford program, the Farmworker & Immigration Rights Clinic, the Journal of Transnational Law & Policy, and the variety of international courses offered. Whether it be in the area of international human rights or international business, I feel prepared to take on the world with my J.D. from FSU Law.”

Katie Mesa ('20), who earned the International Law Certificate and served as president of the Women's Law Symposium as a 2L, is now an attorney at Legal Services of Greater Miami, Inc.

“I’VE HAD THE GREAT HONOR OF SERVING IN THE UNITED STATES CONGRESS, of opening an office for a major law firm in Orlando, and serving on a board that settles some of the world’s most important trade disputes. These opportunities are all the result of the excellent legal education I received at Florida State.”

Jim Bacchus ('79) is chair of Greenberg Traurig's Global Practice Group and former chair of the Appellate Body of the World Trade Organization.

JURIS MASTER PROGRAM

The Florida State University College of Law Juris Master program is designed for students who want to advance in their chosen field as a non-lawyer and to understand important legal, business, and regulatory issues. Our fully online program is flexible with few required courses—students can tailor their curriculum to their specific professional advancement goals.

Students in the program gain an in-depth understanding of the law and regulations impacting heavily regulated industries. The career-focused curriculum was specially designed to prepare working professionals to better understand the compliance issues surrounding their work and effectively strategize for, identify, and understand potential legal and regulatory hazards. Students also gain an understanding of how to implement intelligent risk management programs and determine when legal counsel is needed. Based on your specific career needs and goals, you can choose one of five concentrations:

- Cybersecurity, Privacy, and Technology Risk Management
- Employment Law and HR Risk Management
- Financial Regulation and Compliance
- Health Care Regulation
- Legal Risk Management, Contracting, and Compliance

More information about the online Juris Master program is available at law.fsu.edu/JMonline.

STUDENTS BENEFIT FROM:

100% Online Delivery

Built for working professionals, the 100% online and asynchronous platform affords students the flexibility they need to earn a degree while also working full time.

Top-Rated Law Faculty

Courses are taught by highly respected full-time faculty members of the College of Law and by adjunct professors who are expert practitioners in their fields.

Affordable Tuition Rates

The program is competitively priced for both in-state and out-of-state students.

Innovative and Relevant Curriculum

The career-focused curriculum is designed to give students the valuable skills needed to succeed in a competitive job market.

OUR COMMUNITY

AS AN FSU LAW STUDENT, YOU WILL HAVE ACCESS TO A WIDE VARIETY OF FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY AMENITIES AND PROGRAMS.

FSU is a world-class research university with top programs in areas including political science and business. Being a part of this community allows you the option to participate in one of nine joint graduate pathways offered by the College of Law in collaboration with other FSU colleges and schools.

You will also have access to Florida State's recreational facility, the Leach Center—a 100,000-plus-square-foot gym featuring an indoor track overlooking a 16-lane indoor swimming pool, extensive cardio, strength, and weight-lifting equipment, basketball and racquetball courts, and more. You can also take advantage of FSU's 73-acre, lake-front property where you can swim, canoe, kayak, and picnic with friends. Tickets to all FSU sporting events are free for law students, so you can attend the events of Florida State's 18 NCAA Division I teams at no cost. FSU students also enjoy on-campus facilities for music and comedy shows, bowling and billiards, video games, and movies. The university is also home to the FSU Flying High Circus, one of only two collegiate circuses in the nation.

FSU law students can utilize the University Counseling Center and Health and Wellness Center. The Counseling Center is a welcoming and confidential place to help you overcome challenges that may interfere with your academic progress and emotional well-being. Students may seek couples, group, or individual counseling with no out-of-pocket expense. The on-campus Health Center's many services include general medical care, women's health services, nutrition assessments, physical therapy, psychiatry, immunizations, and more.

Joint Graduate Pathways:

The larger Tallahassee community also offers many opportunities for law students. Tallahassee is a relatively small city, which makes it ideal for studying and also translates into a lower cost of living than in larger areas. Despite its size, Tallahassee offers many more unique restaurants and cultural experiences than most comparable cities. If you love being outdoors, Tallahassee and the surrounding areas have many options for hiking, biking, swimming, boating, and canoeing. The closest beach is less than an hour from campus. The city also boasts a wide variety of networking and work opportunities that accompany being located in the capital of the third most populous state in the nation.

“TALLAHASSEE IS UNIQUE BECAUSE OF ITS DYNAMIC POPULATION.

Every year, thousands of college students move to Tallahassee, bringing with them their own experiences, and every year thousands of college students leave and bring their new life skills with them wherever they settle down. When you come to FSU Law you are given every opportunity that comes with having the Florida Capitol right in your backyard. You casually run into attorneys in a diverse range of practice areas and get a front row seat for exciting job opportunities. Tallahassee is an amazing place to grow.”

⌋ Kelsey Carlton ('21) attended Florida State University for undergrad and is an associate at Meenan P.A. in Tallahassee.

FLORIDA STATE IS THE #3 LAW SCHOOL IN THE NATION FOR BEST STUDENT QUALITY OF LIFE, ACCORDING TO PRINCETON REVIEW (2022).

OUR COMMUNITY

does not mean law students are precluded from its activities and resources. All FSU students enjoy free access to health and wellness facilities, libraries, men’s and women’s athletic events, and fine arts performances. Law students can also participate in graduate joint master’s programs offered in conjunction with the Colleges of Business and Social Work, among others. FSU Law is the perfect balance of a small college atmosphere with large university opportunities.”

Sofia Azpurua ('23) attended Florida State University for undergrad.

APPLY

The College of Law seeks to admit and enroll students who, together, bring to the law school a varied set of backgrounds, interests, personal and professional experiences, and perspectives, who also have a record of academic success and a competitive LSAT score. Other factors considered include exceptional personal talents, interesting or demanding work or service experience, rigorousness of undergraduate course study, leadership potential, graduate study, maturity, and the ability to communicate effectively in writing. An applicant's responses to the character and fitness questions in the application are also a significant factor in the decision-making process. Although a holistic approach is taken when reviewing applications, most admission decisions are based on the combination of LSAT or GRE score and undergraduate academic performance.

Florida State University encourages applications for admission from qualified students regardless of race, creed, color, sex, religion, national origin, age, disability, veteran or marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, or any other protected group status in accordance with all pertinent federal, state, and local laws on non-discrimination and equal opportunity.

If you have questions about the admissions process or the Florida State University College of Law, please contact the Office of Admissions at 850.644.3787 or admissions@law.fsu.edu.

J.D. International Applicants

- Submit foreign transcripts for processing through the LSAC JD CAS.
- Submit official TOEFL or IELTS score to LSAC CAS.

The minimum TOEFL score required is a 100 on the internet-based test, 250 on the computer-based test, or a 600 on the paper-based test. The LSAC TOEFL code for the JD CAS is 0058. The law school also accepts the International English Language Testing System (IELTS): The minimum score required is a 7.5 on the IELTS. Questions about the JD CAS can be directed to LSAC at 215.968.1001 or lsacinfo@lsac.org.

Transfer Eligibility

Florida State accepts transfer applicants from ABA-approved law schools in the fall, spring, and summer semesters. Transfer applicants must be in good standing at their current law school and any previous law schools to be eligible for consideration. Academic dismissal from any law school disqualifies a student from being considered for admission.

Transfer applicants must have earned no more than 43 credits to be eligible. The minimum acceptable LSAT score for transfer is a 147.

Visitor Admission

The College of Law accepts applications from students who have completed their second year of law school at another ABA-accredited institution who would like to be a visiting student at Florida State for one or two semesters of their third year. Students in their second year may be considered on a space-available basis. Preference will be given to students who have a significant professional or personal reason to attend Florida State University College of Law. Detailed application instructions are available at law.fsu.edu.

3+3 Admission

Under 3+3 programs, students who meet certain admission requirements can complete a bachelor's degree and a law degree in six years rather than the traditional seven, saving a year of time and costs. We currently have programs with Eckerd College, Florida State University, Saint Leo University, the University of Central Florida, the University of North Florida, and the University of West Florida, and expect to add agreements with additional institutions in the future. Details about requirements for each school are available at law.fsu.edu/3-plus-3.

LL.M. Admission

Florida State offers three LL.M. degrees: the LL.M. in Business Law, the LL.M. in Environmental Law and Policy, and the LL.M. in American Law for Foreign Lawyers. Detailed application instructions, eligibility information, and application deadlines are available at law.fsu.edu/admissions/llm-procedures.

Juris Master Admission

The Florida State University College of Law Juris Master program is flexible and intended for those who possess a bachelor's degree and who want to advance their careers with legal studies and training. Details about requirements for the program and the application are available at law.fsu.edu/admissions/juris-master.

Most students qualify for federal funding through the Direct Unsubsidized Stafford Loan and Direct Graduate PLUS Loan programs. Eligibility for federal funding is determined by the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). To ensure Florida State University College of Law receives your FAFSA report, you must include our school code (001489) in the application. Students are encouraged to submit the FAFSA as close to the release date as possible for priority consideration. For 2022-2023, the release date is October 1, 2022.

An aerial photograph of a university campus. In the foreground, a large, white, rectangular building with a flat roof and a series of columns along its front edge is visible. Behind it, a green lawn leads to a red brick building with a central white dome. To the left of the dome is a smaller brick building. To the right is another large brick building. A parking lot with several cars is located to the right of the central building. The background shows more campus buildings and surrounding city streets.
