MOTIVATION

Q55 (1): People do things for many different reasons. Please indicate how strongly each of the following reasons describes your motivation for your current job. (If you are in a legal job, rate that position; if not, then your other primary job.) Use this scale:

Response: (not at all for this reason, somewhat for this reason, very much for this reason)

- You are in this job because somebody else wants you to, or thinks you should do this. That is, one reason you are in this job is because of the urgings or desires of others (such as family, friends, or mentors).
- You are in this job because of the rewards (such as the high income, luxuries, or status) that it produces. That is, one reason you are in this job is because you obtain attractive advantages or compensation as a result.
- You are in this job because you would feel ashamed, guilty, or anxious if you weren't. That is, one reason you are in this job is because you "should" do it, even if you're not sure you want to.
- You are in this job because you really believe that it's an important thing to do. That is, one reason you are in this job is because it expresses your personal values, even though those values may have originally been taught to you by others.
- You are in this job because of the enjoyment or stimulation that it provides you. That is, one reason you are in this job is simply your interest in the work itself.
- You are in this job because of the pressure you feel from your LAW SCHOOL loan debts. That is, one reason you are in this job is your need for the financial means to handle your school loans.
- You are in this job because you need a job and could not find the kind of job you wanted. That is, you would not have chosen this job if you had the choices you preferred.
- You are in this job because you enjoy the people there, the sense of team purpose, or the high morale. That is, one reason you are in THIS JOB is a sense of camaraderie, or shared purpose with the others there.

AUTONOMY SUPPORT (ATTORNEYS)

Q 56 (2): Think about the supervisors and managers over you at your current job (they are referred to jointly as 'supervisors' in the questions below). Please indicate your level of agreement with each statement, considering all of your experiences at your work place. Use this scale. (If you are not currently working, are self-employed, or you have no supervisor(s) above you at your job, please skip this question.)
