On November 14, our Mock Trial Team won first place in the 2016 Buffalo-Niagara Mock Trial Competition! This is one of the biggest national invitationals in the country and FSU went undefeated throughout the entire competition. Thirty-six law schools participated in the competition, including teams from Fordham University, Northwestern University, University of California – Davis, University of Georgia, University of Houston, University of Illinois, University of Maryland and University of Texas. Winning team members are third-year students Joseph Davis, Megan Gottschall, and Joseph Leavitt, and second-year student Rachel Lopez. FSU alumni and former mock trial team members Ross Marshman ('12) and Stacy Sharp ('09) coached the team to victory. Congratulations to our wonderful student advocates and to their coaches!

50-Year Anniversary: 1974

In 1974, the FSU Law Moot Court team won first place in a state competition held at The Florida Bar Convention. The team beat the University of Florida in the final round, which was judged by various state court judges, including Florida Supreme Court justices. The College of Law also continued to sponsor timely speakers and events. Nicholas Von Hoffman of CBS’ 60 Minutes “Point-Counterpoint” and a columnist for the Washington Post spoke to a packed house in the Ruby Diamond Auditorium in May. The event was sponsored by the Student Bar Association in honor of Law Day. Florida Representative Donald L. Tucker provided the commencement address for the FSU College of Law graduation ceremony in June 1974. He predicted that Watergate would be marked by historians as a historic beginning rather than a dismal end, and encouraged law students to get involved in politics.

Student Profile: 3L Rico Lively

Rico Lively is a third-year student from Naples, Florida, who will be graduating this December. He attended the University of Tampa and earned a bachelor’s degree in criminology. Lively is a Mock Trial Team member and part of the winning team at the October 2015 Florida National Trial Advocacy Tournament. He is also a member of the Journal of Land Use & Environmental Law and the Florida State University Business Review. Lively’s law school career includes a judicial internship with Judge Elizabeth A. Kovachevich, U.S. District Court for Middle District of Florida in Tampa. He also clerked with Bodiford Law, P.A. in Tallahassee and externed for Judge Timothy J. Thomason, Maricopa County Superior Court in Phoenix, Arizona. Lively is excited for the future—he would like to focus on developing his trial practice skills and work in civil litigation. He is interested in staying in Florida, ideally the South Florida area. If you are interested in hiring Lively for a job after graduation, please visit his LinkedIn profile.
