FSU Hosts National Civil Mock Trial Competition

Congratulations to the team from St. John’s University School of Law (pictured above) on winning the competition and Fordham University School of Law on placing second! We also welcomed students from: Brooklyn Law School, Catholic University of America School of Law, University of South Carolina School of Law, University of South Dakota School of Law, University of Virginia School of Law, University at Buffalo School of Law, Duquesne University School of Law, Florida Atlantic University School of Law, and Northwestern University School of Law. The competition provided an opportunity to put my previous skills to work through several areas, including environmental law; however, I would like to clerk for a few years prior to entering practice. I have always been interested in public policy and am naturally drawn to careers in environmental law. I believe that the competition is an excellent way to develop skills that are useful in the workplace and in personal and professional life.
