From the Dean

This email was sent to [Redacted].

Dean Erin O'Connor

Faculty and Alum Profile: Ruth E. Stone ('76)

Ruth E. Stone, the Wayne and Pat Hogan Professor of Free Enterprise, specializes in civil procedure, banking and commercial law, white collar crime and complex litigation. Throughout her successful legal career, she has maintained a special interest in the protection of intellectual property. Professor Stone has written extensively on the subject of intellectual property and has been invited to lecture throughout the country on the topic of trademark law as well as trademark infringement.

Professor Stone earned her undergraduate degree at the University of Miami with a major in English and minor in Art History. She attended law school at Florida State University, where she was an editor of the Florida State Law Review. Professor Stone was admitted to the Florida Bar in 1976.

Professor Stone is a member of the Florida Bar and the American Bar Association. She has served on several committees and boards, including the Florida Bar’s Intellectual Property Law Section, which she chaired from 2003 to 2005. In addition, she has served as the Chair of the Intellectual Property Law Section for the American College of Trial Lawyers, and as a member of the Intellectual Property Committee of the American Bar Association. She has also served as an officer of the Florida Bar’s Intellectual Property Law Section, and as a member of the American Bar Association’s Intellectual Property Law Section.

Professor Stone has been a visiting professor at several universities, including the University of Miami, the University of Florida, and the University of South Carolina. She has also served as a consultant to several companies, including General Electric and Procter & Gamble.

Professor Stone is married to John R. Bay, a retired trial lawyer. They have two children. She enjoys playing tennis, golf, and travel.

Dean Erin O'Connor

Student Profile: 2018 Grad Daniel Wade

Daniel Wade, a resident of West Palm Beach, is a 2018 graduate of the Florida State University College of Law. He received his J.D. degree magna cum laude and was named a Fort Lauderdale Bar Association Scholar.

Throughout his time at Florida State University College of Law, Wade was heavily involved in both criminal and civil matters. He served as a student advisor for the Florida State University Public Defender’s Office, where he represented indigent clients in all types of criminal cases, including traffic, misdemeanors, and felonies. He was also actively involved in the Florida State University Trial Team, where he served as a coach for several years.

In addition to his work with the public defender, Wade was also involved in several community service projects. He volunteered at the Florida State University Legal Clinic, where he represented indigent clients in a variety of civil matters, including estate planning, real estate, and family law.

Outside of his legal work, Wade was actively involved in several community service organizations. He served as a mentor for the Florida State University Mock Trial Team, and was named a FSU Law School S.J. Quinney Honor Society Scholar.

Daniel Wade’s commitment to community service and his dedication to social justice make him an excellent addition to the legal community.

Professor Stone

ABOUT US
GET INVOLVED
MAKE A GIFT
STUDENTS
ATTORNEYS
CLINICALS
THE PRIDE
MAGAZINE
Online
Privacy Policy
Opt out
To receive our future emails.